

ABSTRACT

The present invention includes methods to pre-erase non-volatile memory cells using an electrical erase signal prior to dividing a wafer into dies. Particular aspects of the present invention are described in the claims, specification and drawings.